Packaging Contents

- 1 x MDP2HDMIUSBA adapter

System Requirements

- DisplayPort® enabled computer system with available mini DisplayPort® port
- USB enabled computer system with available port
- HDMI® enabled display device

Installation

1. Make sure the computer system and display device are turned off.
2. Connect the mini DisplayPort® connector into the host computer system's video card.
3. Connect the USB connector on the adapter into an available USB port on the host computer system.
4. Connect a standard male/male HDMI® cable (not included) from the adapter to an available HDMI® connector on the display device.
5. Power on the display device.
6. Power on the computer system. The Power LED on the adapter should light up.
7. The computer system should automatically detect the display device. Driver installation or special setup requirements depend on the connected display device. Consult any documentation included with your display device.
8. The operating system should also automatically detect and install a new audio output device.
9. If you wish to send audio over HDMI®, check the audio properties for the operating system, to make sure the USB adapter is set as the default audio device.

- NOTE: This will disable audio output from any speakers/headphones currently connected to the computer system.
10. If you do not wish to use audio over HDMI®, set the default audio device back to the original audio output device (e.g. sound card) for your system.
